

Mixed Skin

Common features:

- This type of skin is common after the age of 25.
- The epidermis manifests three zones:
 - Normal
 - Dry (typically cheeks and eye-contour areas)
 - Oily (typically chin, nose, forehead – “the so called T-zone”)
- The T-zone appears shiny and feels oily to touch, often with dilated pores.
- Blackheads and pimples in the T-zone may be present, especially in younger individuals.
- The dry zones becomes progressively drier and tend to develop wrinkles.

Contributing factors:

- Maturation of oily or impure skin with the advance of age
- Improper or inadequate cleansing products
- An aggressive peeling or skin lightening program
- Prolonged exposure to sun
