

Dry Skin

Common features:

- The skin appears dry and opaque.
- It lacks softness and elasticity, and it tends to age prematurely.
- The skin appears thin and its capillaries are not well protected.
- Exposure to heat or cold can easily cause redness.
- In cold weather the skin can become extremely dry and flaky.

Contributing factors:

- Inadequate production of sebum by sebaceous glands
- Hereditary disposition and hormonal factors
- Smoking
- Physical or emotional stress
- Use of certain medicines
- Insufficient protection against environmental factors, above all sun and wind
- Use of aggressive cleansing products with a drying effect
